

EXPANDING ACCESS TO HEALTHCARE IN RURAL COMMUNITIES

Bringing Quality Medical Services Closer to Those in Need

Millions of Americans living in rural and remote areas face significant challenges in accessing healthcare. Provider shortages, long travel distances, and limited specialist availability make it difficult to receive timely medical care. The lack of reliable transportation and limited digital connectivity further complicate access to essential services.

At Leidos QTC Health Services, we work with healthcare providers, government agencies, and community organizations to deliver high-quality medical care directly to rural populations. Through a combination of traveling providers, mobile clinics, pop-up care events, and telehealth solutions, we help close healthcare gaps and ensure patients receive the care they need.

FLEXIBLE, SCALABLE HEALTHCARE SOLUTIONS

Our healthcare delivery models are designed to expand clinical capacity, support local healthcare systems, and improve patient outcomes.

- Traveling Providers – We deploy licensed primary care providers, behavioral health specialists, and telemedicine professionals to supplement local clinical teams. Partnering with our customers, we can provide the right provider, at the right location, delivering the highest level of quality care.
- Mobile Health Clinics – We operate a fleet of 12 fully equipped mobile clinics that provide primary care, diagnostics, and select specialty services. Our team staffs and manages mobile units, ensuring optimized scheduling, logistics, and patient care delivery.
- Pop-Up Clinics – We set up temporary, fully staffed medical clinics at community centers, schools, and workplaces to provide comprehensive exams, screenings, and preventive care. Our logistics network ensures seamless delivery of medical supplies and IT infrastructure, allowing for efficient clinic operations.
- Telehealth Solutions – Our secure, real-time telehealth platform connects rural patients to primary care providers and specialists, expanding access to care beyond physical locations. We integrate remote patient monitoring, allowing providers to track health metrics and intervene early when needed. These capabilities extend the reach of specialists, improve continuity of care, and reduce the burden of travel for patients with chronic conditions.
- Strengthening Local Healthcare Systems – We collaborate with local healthcare providers, Tribal health organizations, and rural hospitals to expand access to care while ensuring culturally competent, community-driven solutions. By working alongside established providers, we create sustainable healthcare models tailored to each community's unique needs.
- Community-Based Care & Health Education – We partner with local organizations to deliver health screenings, preventive care education, and wellness resources at community events, schools, and workplaces. Our outreach programs help rural residents manage chronic disease management conditions, access mental health support, and take proactive steps toward better health.
